APPENDIX 7: STUD TYRES

Use of studded tyres

The use of studded tyres is permitted on two-wheel drive vehicles.

Until 2019, the use of studded tyres was restricted under Article 6 of Chapter 3, Article 2 of the JAF Domestic Competition Vehicle Regulations, and two-wheel drive vehicles were fitted with tyre chains on SS courses with a lot of snow. However, there were many cases of chains breaking or coming off during driving, and this was deemed dangerous, so in 2022 we submitted a special permit application to the JAF regarding the use of studded tyres in domestic rallies, and it was approved.

The specifications for studded tyres are as follows. If you are planning to participate, please use this as a reference for your preparations.

1. Tyres used

Snow tyres that can be driven on Japanese public roads and tyres that conform to this Appendix of the Supplementary Regulations.

Stud tyres to be used will be checked for stud shape, number of studs and protrusion at the time of scrutineering.

The use of studded tyres may be prohibited by the Clerk of the Course depending on the amount of snow accumulation.

If the amount of stud protrusion exceeds the regulations, the use of the relevant tyre will be prohibited from the next section onwards.

2. number of units used

The number of tyres used shall be as stated in the Special Regulations.

Stud tyres permitted for use during rallies.

The following snow studded tyres are permitted for use during the rally

The number of studs on the tyre must not exceed 20 per 10.0 cm in any part of the circumference.

2. the cross section of the stud shall be cylindrical in any place.
