Start order

Prologue is the preferred method of determining the event starting order and may be followed by a shootout. If a prologue is not able to be run, the event starting order will be determined by recent prologue results.

A crew/driver not finishing the prologue may, on application to the Clerk of Course, be seeded into the starting order based on recent prologue results. Competitors who do not complete prologue will not be seeded within the top ten.

3. ADVERTISING

By entering any event in the 2026 ARB Australian Off Road Racing Championship, Clubs, Corporations and persons agree to refer to the Championship by its full title: 'ARB Australian Off Road Racing Championship'. All promotional material must include the full title. To be eligible for points, competitors shall display supplied decals on each side of vehicle if requested.

4. POINT SCORE

Finishing order and points allocation will be determined on the basis of total cumulative distance of laps completed in the shortest time. Points will be awarded as a fraction of points available for the position gained, according to race distance completed in full laps. Outright and Class points available for each position are detailed in the tables below.

Only the driver nominated on the entry form is eligible for points and can receive points from only one entry per event. A driver can nominate a navigator to receive end of year Championship awards by close of entries for the final event. All four rounds will count towards a competitors point score. Progressive points tables will be published on the AORRA website (www.aorra.com.au) after each event.
